Key Findings

- Among the Democratic presidential candidates, Joe Biden is favored among African American young adults (19%) followed closely by Bernie Sanders (18%). Bernie Sanders shares a slight lead with Andrew Yang among young Asian American adults (14%). Latinx (20%) and white (15%) adults also favor Bernie Sanders followed by Joe Biden at 13% among Latinx and 11% of white young adults.
- A plurality of young adults across race and ethnicity say they support “Someone else” for the Democratic nomination at higher rates than any one candidate. Twenty-one percent of African American, 23% of Asian American, 25% of Latinx, and 35% of white young adults all say they support “Someone else” for the nomination.
- In a hypothetical election between Donald Trump and the top performing Democratic hopefuls vying for the nomination, Bernie Sanders (65%), Andrew Yang (64%), and Joe Biden (64%) have the largest support against Trump. However, each of the ten leading candidates beats Trump by at least 15 percentage points in a hypothetical match-up.
- Each of the leading candidates garner at least 62% support from African American, Latinx and Asian American young adults when matched against Donald Trump in a hypothetical election.
- Donald Trump beats Elizabeth Warren, Cory Booker, Beto O’Rourke, and Amy Klobuchar in hypothetical match-ups among young white adults.
- A plurality of young adults across race and ethnicity say the candidate quality that matters most in deciding for whom to vote in the 2020 presidential election is “can bring about needed change.” Twenty-five percent of African American, 28% of Asian American, 20% of Latinx, and 26% of white young adults say this is the most important candidate quality.
- Large majorities of African American (76%), Asian American (76%), and Latinx (73%) young adults support the House of Representatives holding impeachment proceedings, compared to a slim majority (54%) of white young adults who support the proceedings.
- Significant majorities of young adults across race and ethnicity say Donald Trump has improperly used his office. Eighty-six percent of African American, 85% of Asian American, 78% of Latinx, and 64% of white young adults say Donald Trump has “probably” or “definitely” improperly used his office to enrich himself or his friends and family.
- Significant majorities of young adults believe Donald Trump has improperly used his office to attack his political opponents. Specifically, 86% of African American, 85% of Asian American, 82% of Latinx, and 70% of white young adults say Donald Trump has “probably” or “definitely” improperly used his office to attack his political opponents.

- A majority of African American (56%) and white (58%) young adults, and a plurality of Asian American (46%) and Latinx (49%) young adults say they definitely will vote in the presidential election being held in November 2020.
- A majority of African American (76%), Asian American (64%), and Latinx (64%) young adults say they believe Trump will lose re-election in 2020, compared to 50% of white young adults that say Trump will lose re-election in 2020.
- Significant majorities of young adults of color believe Trump is a racist (80% of African American, 75% of Asian American, and 76% of Latinx, compared to a slim majority (53%) of white young adults saying Donald Trump is a racist).
- Majorities of young adults of color we surveyed (71% of African American, 61% of Asian American, and 64% of Latinx) say they feel less safe having Donald Trump as president of the United States, compared to 46% of whites who say they feel less safe.
- A majority of young adults across race and ethnicity (67% of African American, 68% of Asian American, 58% of Latinx, and 57% of white) say the United States is “somewhat” or “very” likely to enter into a recession in the next year.
- Majorities of young African American (74%), Asian American (71%), and Latinx (72%) adults oppose the United States building a wall along the Mexican border to help stop illegal immigration, compared to a slim majority of white (55%) young adults who oppose the wall.
- Across race and ethnicity, majorities of young African American (79%), Asian American (73%), Latinx (76%), and white (64%) adults say they support free tuition at public colleges.
- Majorities of Asian American (61%) and white (54%) young adults and pluralities of African American (47%) and Latinx (48%) young adults think a wealth tax, or a higher tax rate on income above one million dollars, is a good idea.
- Pluralities of Asian American (34%), Latinx (32%), and white (37%) young adults want health care coverage expanded by establishing a public option like Medicare-for-all but letting people stay on their private insurance if they want to. A plurality of African American (31%) young adults say they prefer keeping and building on the existing Affordable Care Act.
- Significant majorities of young adults across race and ethnicity (78% African American, 80% Asian American, 78% Latinx, and 74% white) support the Green New Deal to address climate change and income inequality.
- Majorities of Asian American (64%), Latinx (63%), African American (57%) and white (67%) young adults strongly favor requiring background checks for individuals attempting to purchase a gun.

- When asked if they support the government “repossessing” selected assault rifles, such as the AR-15 and AK-47, only 46% of young whites say they support this move. However, when asked about the government “buying back” these weapons, young white support increases to 61%.
- A plurality of young whites (40%) say the government and other institutions should “do nothing” in terms of reparations for African Americans, compared to 24% of Latinx, 24% of Asian American, and 10% of Black young adults agreeing the government should do nothing.
- Majorities of young African Americans support full and free access to public education across one’s lifetime (58%), retroactive forgiveness of student loans (52%), and thorough and accurate public education curriculum on Black history (52%) as something that should be done for African Americans to make up for the lasting impact of slavery and racial discrimination such as Jim Crow.

STUDY METHODOLOGY

The GenForward October survey is a project of Professor Cathy J. Cohen at the University of Chicago. Interviews were conducted with a representative sample from GenForward<sup>SM</sup>, a nationally representative survey panel of adults ages 18-36 recruited and administered by NORC at the University of Chicago.

A total of 2,994 interviews were conducted between September 27th and October 10th, 2019 with adults ages 18-36, including completed interviews with 883 African American young adults, 527 Asian American young adults, 801 Latinx young adults, 775 white young adults, and 58 young adults with other racial and ethnic backgrounds. The survey was offered in English and Spanish and via telephone and web modes.

The GenForward survey was built from two sample sources:

- Fifty-nine percent of the completed interviews are sourced from NORC's AmeriSpeak® Panel and from the Black Youth Project (BYP) panel of young adults recruited by NORC. AmeriSpeak is a probability-based panel that also uses address-based sample but sourced from the NORC National Frame with enhanced sample coverage. During the initial recruitment phase of the AmeriSpeak panel, randomly selected U.S. households were sampled with a known, non-zero probability of selection and then contacted by U.S. mail, email, telephone, and field interviewers (face-to-face). The BYP sample is from a probability-based household panel that uses an address-based sample from a registered voter database of the entire U.S. Households were selected using stratified random sampling to support over-sampling of households with African Americans, Latinxs, and Asian Americans ages 18-36. NORC contacted sampled households by U.S. mail and by telephone, inviting them to register and participate in public opinion surveys twice a month.
- The AmeriSpeak panel sample was supplemented with respondents from the Dynata nonprobability online opt-in panel. Forty-one percent of the completed interviews are sourced from the Dynata panel. To help to reduce potential bias in the nonprobability sample, Dynata attempted to balance the nonprobability respondent sample by age, race and ethnicity, gender, and partisanship. In order to incorporate the nonprobability sample, NORC used TrueNorth calibration services, an innovative hybrid calibration approach developed at NORC based on small area estimation methods in order to explicitly account for potential bias associated with the nonprobability sample. The purpose of TrueNorth calibration is to adjust the weights for the nonprobability sample so as to bring weighted distributions of the nonprobability sample in line with the population distribution for characteristics correlated with the survey variables. Such calibration adjustments help to reduce potential bias, yielding more accurate population estimates.

Panelists on both the BYP and AmeriSpeak panels are invited to register for the panel via the web or by telephone to participate in public opinion surveys.

Of the 2,994 completed interviews in the GenForward July survey, 97 percent were completed by web and 3 percent by telephone. The survey completion rate is 20.3 percent. The weighted AAPOR RR3 panel recruitment rate is 19.8 percent and the weighted household panel retention rate is 85.5 percent, for a cumulative AAPOR Response Rate 3 of 3.4 percent. The overall margin of sampling error is +/- 2.60 percentage points at the 95 percent confidence level, including the design effect. Among subgroups, the margin of sampling error at the 95 percent confidence level is +/- 4.27 percentage points for African Americans, +/- 5.44 percentage points for Asian Americans, +/- 5.44 percentage points for Latinxs, and +/- 4.11 percentage points for whites.

To encourage cooperation, respondents were offered incentives for completing the survey that ranged from the cash-equivalent of $3 to the cash-equivalent of $10.

The interviews from the two probability-based sample sources were combined for statistical weighting and analysis. The combined panel samples provide sample coverage of approximately 97% of the U.S. household population. Those excluded from the sample include people with P.O. Box only addresses, some addresses not listed in the USPS Delivery Sequence File, and some newly constructed dwellings. The statistical weights incorporate the appropriate probability of selection for the BYP and AmeriSpeak samples, nonresponse adjustments, and also, raking ratio adjustments to population benchmarks for 18-64-year-old adults. A poststratification process is used to adjust for any survey nonresponse as well as any non-coverage or under- and over-sampling resulting from the study-specific sample design. The poststratification process was done separately for each racial/ethnic group and involved the following variables: age, gender, education, and census region. The weighted data, which reflect the U.S. population of adults ages 18-36, and the 18-36-year-old populations for African Americans, Latinxs, Asian Americans, and non-Latinx whites, were used for all analyses.
